

Thank-you, Triton Custom Homes. We love our new home!

As with any venture, we feel that relationships are the most important aspect. We felt that way the very first time that we met with the people at Triton Custom Homes. It was at that first meeting that we decided to contract with them to build our dream house in Desert Aire, WA.

We made the right choice. All the way from the initial design, through the construction and ending with the final turnover, we were treated with the utmost respect, courtesy and honesty. The folks at Triton Custom Homes are true professionals!

We cannot say enough about how pleased we are with our home and the people who built it. Gary & Adam (Triton's Owners) became our true friends during the construction process. Thanks to them and Triton's well qualified subcontractors, we have the finished home that we truly envisioned from the start.

Gary kept in contact with us on almost a daily basis, and his communication skills allowed us sufficient time to make required decisions without interrupting progress or sacrificing the completion date. Adam's management of the construction process and the subcontractors shows in the excellent workmanship throughout our home. Gary and Adam's integrity demanded a quality performance by anyone involved in the process.

In closing, we highly recommend Triton Custom Homes! We would certainly use them again.
